BRAND GUIDELINES

A practical identity system for print, digital, signage and customer communications

Warm, generous and familiar - a local cafe identity with British roots and Mediterranean character.

About this guide

This guide translates the visual and verbal cues already present in the supplied Olympic Cafe A3 table menu into a consistent brand system. The strongest current assets are the burgundy-and-cream palette, the torch wordmark, the terracotta paper texture and the hand-drawn cafe-front illustration.

The recommendations are designed to preserve the cafe's established neighbourhood character while improving consistency, readability and professional presentation across menus, website pages, social media, packaging and signage.

The brand should feel like a trusted local cafe: warm, generous, dependable and welcoming throughout the day.

Brand name

Customer-facing name: Olympic Cafe

Official logo treatment: OLYMPIC CAFE

Functional descriptor: Breakfast - Brunch - Lunch - Dinner

Retain the accent in “Cafe” within the official logo artwork and wherever the publishing platform supports it reliably.

Positioning

Olympic Cafe is a warm, welcoming neighbourhood cafe serving generous British cafe classics, Mediterranean-inspired breakfasts and familiar family favourites throughout the day.

Brand promise

Generous food, friendly service and proper cafe favourites without unnecessary fuss.

Personality

|---------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| WARMFriendly, relaxed and approachable.                  | GENEROUSSatisfying portions, choice and hospitality.                |
| DEPENDABLEFamiliar food and service customers can trust. | ENERGETICPositive, lively and suitable for all-day trade.           |
| LOCALA neighbourhood cafe rather than a generic chain.   | UNPRETENTIOUSProfessional, but never overly luxurious or corporate. |

Core audiences

- Local residents and regular customers
- Families with children
- Commuters and nearby workers
- Customers seeking traditional breakfasts
- Weekend brunch customers
- Customers looking for affordable takeaway meals
- British and Mediterranean communities in and around Waltham Cross

Core values

- Hospitality - every customer should feel recognised and welcome.
- Generosity - portions, choice and service should feel satisfying.
- Dependability - customers should know what quality and value to expect.
- Variety - traditional cafe dishes and Mediterranean flavours belong together.
- Community and care - the brand should feel local and thoughtfully prepared.

02 VERBAL IDENTITY

The voice should be friendly, straightforward, appetising and recognisably local.

Tone of voice

Use plain language that sounds like a real local cafe. Be confident and welcoming without becoming formal, exaggerated or overly promotional.

Preferred example

Freshly prepared breakfasts, generous lunches and proper cafe favourites served seven days a week.

Avoid

Writing principles

|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| BE WELCOMINGUse "Join us for breakfast, brunch or lunch."  | BE DIRECTUse "Eat in or take away."                                             |
| BE APPETISINGDescribe ingredients and preparation clearly. | BE BELIEVABLEOnly use claims such as homemade or locally sourced when verified. |
| BE CONCISEKeep promotional lines short and easy to scan.   | BE CONSISTENTUse the same dish names, punctuation and price style everywhere.   |

Approved language

- Freshly prepared
- Cooked to order
- Cafe favourites
- Generous portions
- Served all day
- Eat in or take away
- Open seven days a week

Recommended headline bank

- Proper food. A warm welcome. All day.
- Breakfast, brunch and cafe favourites
- Big breakfasts and satisfying lunches
- Your local cafe in Waltham Cross
- Eat in, take away, come hungry
- Start your day the Olympic way
- Familiar favourites, freshly prepared

The expressive torch wordmark is the most distinctive current brand asset and should be protected as original artwork.

Official logo set

|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| PRIMARY LOGOWordmark, torch and Breakfast - Brunch - Lunch - Dinner descriptor. | WORDMARK ONLYOlympic Cafe with torch, without the descriptor.                             |
| COMPACT LOGOA stacked version for square or narrow spaces.                      | ICONTorch symbol or an approved OC monogram for avatars and favicons.                     |
| SINGLE COLOUREntire logo in burgundy, cream, white or black.                    | SIGNAGE VERSIONSimplified wordmark without small descriptor text when viewed at distance. |

Preferred combinations

- Burgundy logo on warm cream
- Cream logo on burgundy
- White logo on burgundy
- Burgundy logo on a pale terracotta background
- Black logo only for restricted black-and-white printing

Clear space and size

Maintain clear space around the logo equal to approximately the height of the capital O. No text, border, photograph or illustration should enter this area.

Print minimums: 45 mm for the full logo, 30 mm for the wordmark and 10 mm high for the icon.

Digital minimums: 180 px for the full logo, 120 px for the wordmark and 24 px for the icon. Remove the descriptor at small sizes rather than reducing it until it becomes unreadable.

Never

- Stretch, compress, rotate or redraw the logo
- Replace the official lettering with another brush font
- Change the proportions of the torch
- Add shadows, bevels, glows or gradients
- Place burgundy on a dark terracotta background
- Use the torch as repetitive decoration throughout every design

Burgundy and warm cream are the recognisable core. Terracotta supports the heritage feel; green and gold are accents only.

| Colour                                                                                                    | Hex     | Use                                                  |

|  Olympic Burgundy | #8A181A | Logo, headings, buttons, borders, signage            |
|  Warm Cream       | #F1DEC0 | Primary backgrounds, reverse heading text, packaging |
|  Terracotta Wash  | #D9945E | Textured backgrounds and selected decorative panels  |
|  Fresh Green      | #41AD49 | Vegetarian labels and small dietary accents          |
|  Deep Green       | #246B2E | Accessible reversed dietary labels                   |
|  Warm Gold        | #CC872E | Torch detail and limited premium accents             |
|  Ink Black        | #1F1F1F | Menu copy and functional information                 |
| White                                                                                              | #FFFFFF | Reversed logo and clean digital backgrounds          |

Recommended balance

As a working rule: 55% warm cream, 25% Olympic burgundy, 15% terracotta and no more than 5% green, gold or other supporting accents.

Contrast rules

- Use black text on warm cream for long menu descriptions.
- Use cream or white text on Olympic Burgundy for headings and calls to action.
- Do not use small cream or white text on Fresh Green; use black text or switch to Deep Green.
- Avoid adding bright blue, purple or neon colours merely to differentiate menu sections.

The brand needs a clear working font system while preserving the custom wordmark as artwork.

Logo lettering

Treat the Olympic Cafe wordmark as custom artwork. Do not type it using a substitute font.

Primary heading typeface

MADE Tommy Soft Bold

- Menu section headings
- Promotional headlines
- Signage
- Website headings
- Social media headlines
- Calls to action

Use uppercase for short headings and sentence case for longer website headlines. Keep letter spacing slightly tight and restrict headline colours to burgundy, cream or white.

Functional typeface

Poppins

- Poppins Bold: dish names, prices and buttons
- Poppins SemiBold: subheadings and labels
- Poppins Regular: descriptions, website body copy and opening information

Accent typeface

Special Elite Regular

Use only for short informal notes such as “Cooked to order”, “Served all day” or “Chef’s special”. Do not use it for prices, allergens, addresses or full descriptions.

Digital size guide

|                                         |                                        |
|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| MAIN PAGE HEADING44-56 px    | SECTION HEADING28-36 px     |
| CARD HEADING20-24 px         | BODY COPY16-18 px           |
| SUPPORTING TEXTMinimum 14 px | BUTTON TEXT16 px, semi-bold |

Print size guide

Menu section headings: 18-22 pt. Dish names and prices: minimum 10 pt. Descriptions: minimum 9.5 pt. Allergen or legal information: minimum 8 pt.

Use one coherent visual language: warm, hand-drawn, uncomplicated and rooted in the cafe environment.

Preferred illustration direction

- Fine burgundy line work
- Warm cream or transparent backgrounds
- Slightly imperfect hand-drawn character
- Limited detail and consistent line thickness
- Occasional terracotta or gold highlight

Suitable subjects

---

- Coffee cups
- Frying pans
- Breakfast plates
- Cafe chairs
- The storefront
- Bread, eggs and tomatoes
- Leaves and small food ingredients

Food illustration consistency

The existing menu mixes realistic clip art, cartoons and flat illustrations. Future work should use one commissioned illustration family or replace most food illustration with real photography.

Do not mix photorealistic clip art, children's cartoon characters, flat vectors, watercolour food and detailed 3D food illustration in the same design.

Third-party characters

Only use recognisable entertainment characters when appropriate permission has been confirmed. Otherwise, replace them with original Olympic Cafe characters or simple food illustrations.

Texture

Retain the terracotta paper texture as a supporting asset on menu covers, selected website panels, packaging inserts and social backgrounds. Do not place long descriptions or small prices over the darkest sections. For digital use, reduce its visual intensity to approximately 5-12%.

Shapes and decorative elements

- Rounded burgundy section bars
- Thin burgundy outlines
- Cream content cards
- Small torch dividers
- Simple flourishes inspired by the menu cover

Avoid repeated starbursts unless they communicate a genuine limited-time offer.

Photography should feature real Olympic Cafe food, people and atmosphere rather than generic stock imagery.

Food photography

- Photograph real dishes prepared by Olympic Cafe
- Use warm natural or softly diffused light
- Use 45-degree angles for individual dishes and overhead views for full breakfasts
- Show texture, steam and freshness
- Use cream, warm wood or terracotta surfaces
- Keep portions generous but realistic

People and atmosphere

---

- Customers enjoying breakfast or coffee
- Friendly service and genuine staff members
- Families and mixed age groups
- The cafe exterior and local High Street setting
- Natural moments rather than staged stock poses

Image treatment

- Warm white balance
- Natural shadows
- Moderate contrast
- Consistent crop style
- No heavy filters or extreme saturation
- Do not cover important food details with text

The brand can feel abundant without becoming cluttered. Clear hierarchy and spacing are essential.

Information hierarchy

- 1. Section heading
- 2. Dish name
- 3. Description
- 4. Price
- 5. Dietary or promotional information

Prices should be right-aligned and visually separated from descriptions. Use repeated structure across every category.

Digital spacing system

|------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| 8 PXSmall internal gaps       | 16 PXRelated pieces of content                |
| 24 PXCard padding             | 32 PXSection separation                       |
| 48-64 PXMajor page separation | RULEUse multiples of eight wherever practical |

Content cards

- Warm cream background
- 12-16 px corner radius
- Thin burgundy border when needed
- Minimum 24 px internal padding
- Very subtle shadow
- No texture behind small text

Menu organisation

For future print and digital menus, organise content into clear groups: Breakfast; Brunch; Lunch and homemade meals; Burgers and wraps; Vegetarian; Kids; Sandwiches and paninis; Drinks; Extras.

For digital menus, use tabs or collapsible categories instead of displaying every item at once.

A clean website should translate the brand without reproducing the density of the printed menu.

Header

- Cream background
- Burgundy logo
- Poppins navigation
- Burgundy View Menu or Order button
- Sticky navigation on mobile and desktop

Hero section

Use a strong photograph of an Olympic breakfast or the cafe-front line drawing over a softened terracotta texture.

Proper cafe favourites, served all day.

Supporting copy: From full breakfasts and brunch favourites to homemade lunches and Mediterranean specials, there is something for everyone at Olympic Cafe.

Buttons

|                                                                                                 |                                                                                    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| PRIMARYBurgundy background, cream or white text, semi-bold type, minimum 48 px high. | SECONDARYCream or transparent background with burgundy border and text. |
| DIETARYDeep green background with white text.                                        | MOBILEFull-width where practical and easy to tap.                       |

Page backgrounds

Alternate between warm cream, white, very pale terracotta and selected burgundy call-to-action panels. Do not use the full-strength paper texture behind every page.

Each post should communicate one clear idea, using real food imagery and a recognisable burgundy-and-cream frame.

Core formats

- 1080 x 1080 px square post
- 1080 x 1350 px portrait post
- 1080 x 1920 px story
- Platform-specific Facebook and Google Business cover imagery

Template structure

- One clear message
- One principal food photograph
- A short headline
- Price or offer where relevant
- A small Olympic Cafe logo
- A clear expiry date for promotions

Do not place the complete menu or several unrelated offers on one graphic.

Content themes

|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| FOODBreakfast of the week, customer favourite, fresh juice or coffee. | OCCASIONSWeekend brunch, Sunday roast, seasonal announcements.    |
| PEOPLEMeet the team and genuine customer moments.                     | COMMUNITYLocal messages, opening hours and neighbourhood updates. |
| FAMILIESKids meals and family-friendly visits.                        | OFFERSOne promotion per post with clear terms and date.           |

Every physical touchpoint should feel like part of one system rather than a separate design project.

Printed menus

---

- Burgundy section headings and cream reading areas
- Poppins for all functional text
- Special Elite only for short notes
- Consistent price formatting with the pound symbol
- One dietary legend used throughout
- Clear allergen signposting
- Texture limited to covers or wide background panels

Takeaway packaging

---

- Natural cream or kraft packaging
- One-colour burgundy logo
- Burgundy sticker or stamp
- Optional torch or coffee-cup line art
- No multicoloured clip art

Uniforms

---

- Burgundy apron
- Cream embroidered wordmark
- Black or cream shirt
- Optional small torch icon on the sleeve

Exterior signage

---

- Cream lettering on burgundy
- Burgundy lettering on warm cream
- Warm external lighting
- Simplified wordmark without small descriptor text at long viewing distances

Avoid placing the burgundy logo directly over dark brick or deep terracotta without a cream backing panel.

A professional proofread and one agreed writing system will significantly improve the menu.

Preferred naming style

- Cumberland sausage
- Mixed salad
- Grilled tomato
- Scrambled eggs
- Two slices of toast
- Sun-dried tomatoes
- Chilli con carne
- Shepherd's pie
- Eat-in or takeaway

Price style

---

Use the pound symbol consistently: £7.50, £11.00 and 50p. Do not mix 7.50, £7.50 and 7.5 across the same menu.

Capitalisation

---

Chicken Caesar Salad

Grilled chicken, crisp salad, Caesar dressing and Parmesan.

Use title case for dish names and sentence case for descriptions. Avoid writing every full description in uppercase.

Proofreading priorities

The supplied menu contains spelling, grammatical and formatting inconsistencies, including variations around cheese, cherry, grilled, mixed salad, Cumberland and toast. The address line also appears to require verification before it is reused.

Do not silently change recipes or claims during proofreading. Confirm uncertain dish content, dietary status, serving descriptions and the official postal address with the business.

Readability and contrast should be treated as core brand requirements rather than optional technical checks.

- Use black text on cream for long descriptions.
- Use burgundy with cream or white for strong heading contrast.
- Do not use small cream or white type on the current bright green.
- Keep digital body copy at 16 px or larger.
- Do not communicate vegetarian, vegan or allergen information using colour alone.
- Add text labels alongside dietary icons.
- Provide alt text for food and venue photography.
- Ensure buttons have visible hover and keyboard-focus states.
- Avoid placing text over detailed food imagery.

Practical rule

---

If a customer has to zoom, squint or guess, the design is not finished.

Consistency is achieved by repeating a small number of strong choices and removing visual clutter.

Do

---

- Use burgundy and cream as the primary colours.
- Preserve the original torch wordmark.
- Use Poppins for clarity.
- Use real Olympic Cafe food photography.
- Keep the line-art cafe illustration style.
- Present prices and categories consistently.
- Make the cafe feel warm, generous and local.
- Give content enough space to breathe.

Don't

---

- Mix several unrelated illustration styles.
- Use unlicensed cartoon characters.
- Fill every background with heavy texture.
- Use more than three fonts in one design.
- Put long descriptions in decorative typefaces.
- Use bright green as a major brand colour.
- Distort or redraw the logo.
- Use overly luxurious or corporate language.
- Crowd promotions, menus and contact details into one visual.

These changes will deliver the fastest improvement in consistency, readability and customer perception.

|----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1  | Create a clean vector logo suite.                                                                           |
| 2  | Standardise the palette around burgundy and cream.                                                          |
| 3  | Replace mixed food clip art with consistent photography or line illustration.                               |
| 4  | Move most functional menu text into Poppins.                                                                |
| 5  | Correct spelling, grammar, address and price-format inconsistencies.                                        |
| 6  | Improve contrast on vegetarian and salad headings.                                                          |
| 7  | Reduce the amount of information presented in each menu panel.                                              |
| 8  | Create reusable templates for the website, Google Business and social media.                                |
| 9  | Define approved vegetarian, vegan and allergen icons.                                                       |
| 10 | Obtain appropriate clearance before expanding torch or ring-related imagery into trademarks or merchandise. |
